

ABSTRACT

The composition of the present invention contains proanthocyanidins as active components. When the composition further 5 comprises ascorbic acid or a derivative thereof, the fluidity of blood and effect of protecting blood vessels are further improved. This composition may be a food composition or pharmaceutical composition for improving the blood fluidity. Particularly, this composition is useful as a beverage.